

Course Projects

Prof. Dr. Dirk Riehle

Friedrich-Alexander University Erlangen-Nürnberg

AMSE A03

Available Projects

- Any (Android, iPhone, Web) app that you can think of, provided that
 - The app combines two or more open data sources in an innovative way
 - The app uses the JValue ODS to retrieve at least one of these data sources
 - We do not support specific technology, so please choose your framework wisely
- As an example, consider PegelAlarm, <https://pegelalarm.de>
 - You don't have to invent the app idea, you can take it from elsewhere
 - Look out for app hackathons like <https://codingdavinci.de/> and similar
- For interesting open data sources, consider <https://govdata.de>
 - Take a look at <https://www.destatis.de>
 - Or <https://data.deutschebahn.com/>

The JValue ODS

- The JValue ODS is an open source project (that we run as a service) with the mission
 - To make open data consumption easy, reliable, and safe
- More information resources on the JValue ODS
 - The project on GitHub: <https://github.com/jvalue>
 - Slides and a video explaining the ODS: <https://wp.me/pe4V6-39V>
 - Experiences with PegelAlarm: <https://www.video.uni-erlangen.de/clip/id/6105>
